Nation's Largest Privately Held Drayage Company Hires Ahern and Associates to Facilitate Agent Acquisitions

The Evans Network of Companies engages trucking consulting firm, Ahern and Associates to spearhead expansion efforts.

Phoenix, AZ, October 5, 2010—Capitalizing on a weak economy which has led to an overall decrease in capacity within the shipping industry, The Evans Network of Companies has turned to the industry's leading transportation acquisition firm, Ahern and Associates to deliver acquisition targets which will complement Evans' growth strategy.

Having been in operation for over 70 years, Pennsylvania based The Evans Network of Companies is now the largest privately held container drayage company in the United States and the third largest overall. Their Chairman, Bert Evans has recently secured the services of Andy Ahern, CEO of Ahern and Associates to take the lead in Evans' most aggressive expansion efforts in recent years.

Ahern and Associates has been engaged for the following targeted, acquisition assignments:

1. Locate additional drayage agents in the eastern 2/3's of the United States
2. Identify drayage agent companies with annual revenues between $10MM to $40MM which utilize independent carriers and have a strong agent network.
3. Locate dry van and flatbed platform freight brokerages with annual revenues up to $60MM.

Evans comments on the timing of the acquisitions: "We feel that this is a very favorable time to expand our capacity and leverage customers. We're financially sound and feel that a lot of capacity has left the system overall."

When faced with the prospect of seeking acquisition targets in-house that would match their search criteria, Evans decided that hiring Ahern and Associates would be a much better alternative considering their stellar reputation for getting deals done. "I've known of Andy Ahern and his firm for quite some time and know he has a fine reputation in the industry. We felt that his experience and reputation would give us access to markets we would normally not be able to penetrate."

Andy Ahern comments, "We're excited to work with a company like Evans who has such a stellar track record of sustained growth and performance and look forward to delivering potential acquisition targets which meet or exceed their expectations."
